BILL IS ON ITS WAY TO THE PRESIDENT

Washington, June 16.—The statehood bill was signed by Speaker Cannon last evening, and it will be signed by the Vice President today.

Then Mr. McGuire will take it to the White House. It is not probable that the President will sign it today, for he is not apt to have the time to examine it, so that the last act needed to confer statehood upon Oklahoma and Indian Territory will not be conferred until next week.

Mr. McGuire will ask to be informed when the President gets ready to sign it, for he wishes to be present. The pen with which it is to be signed has already been bought. It will be delivered to the Oklahoma Historical Association.

Can't Tell a Lie.

A certain small boy in Ada is evidently destined to be president of the United States. He was sent out to sell a cow. In recommending her, he said: "She is guaranteed to give four gallons of milk a day, and sometimes she does." (Moral—O ye parents, teach not your children to lie.)—Contributed.

Orville Snead wants to know where his gold headed ebony walking cane is. Information as to its whereabouts will be gladly received at Ada National Bank or phone his residence. 1t

Good sized audiences are out each evening to hear the Christian ministers who are holding services in the room next door to the News office.

AFTER THE BIG TRUST THAT FARMS THE FARMER

Washington, June 16.—Officials of the Department of Justice have struck a blow against the so-called Fertilizer Trust, a combination which in the amount of its capital is declared to be greater than the Standard Oil Company. Indictments have been returned against thirty-one corporations and twenty-five individuals and firms.

It is charged that the combination has mulcted Southern planters and farmers out of many millions of dollars in the last few years through its shrewd and secret methods.

The proceedings were brought in the United States Circuit

Court for the Middle District of Tennessee. The grand jury returned an indictment against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. et al. This is a corporation with a capital of fifty million, existing under the laws of New Jersey. With it are allied a large number of other concerns. A list of the defendants includes Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. of Chicago.

At the C. P. Church.

Preaching Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

STATEHOOD WILL ABOLISH MANY LUCRATIVE OFFICES

Muskogee, I. T., June 16.—The greatest disturbance that will occur in official life in Indian Territory on account of the passage of the statehood bill will be in the federal courts. They will continue until a state government is established, and that will be nearly a year, but the federal court regime, as it has been known in Indian Territory since 1889 when the courts were established, will be wiped out forever. Indian Territory will comprise one federal district and there will be but one set of federal officers where there are now four, and some of these double manned.

There are more fat salaries in the federal courts in Indian Territory than most people suppose, and these will be wiped out. There are four federal districts. There are two judges in each district and they draw salaries of $5,000 per year each. In each district there is a United States marshal who draws $4,000 per year. He has an average of thirty office and field deputies, making 120 in all, and these deputies draw average salaries of $1,200 per year. For each district there is a clerk of the court who draws $4,000 per year. Each clerk has from four to six deputies and five each in recording towns, making possibly 40 in all, these deputies draw from $1,200 to $1,800 per year. There are four district attorneys who each draw $4,000 per year, and there are ten assistants who draw from $1,200 to $2,000 per year. There are 26 commissioners who draw salaries of $1,500 per year and each commissioner has a constable who draws $600 per year.

It will be seen from this list that there are right now more high salaried officers in Indian Territory than there will be in Oklahoma when it becomes a state. As soon as the statehood bill becomes a law, these officials will commence resigning. This is especially true of those who happen to be lawyers. They will have greater opportunities in the next few months than ever again to make money and they will not hesitate to drop their present office holding jobs which can last at best but a short time longer.

There is some question as to what will become of the present school officials. Of course as soon as a state system is formulated these will go out, but that may be a long time in the future. The advent of statehood will not in the least disturb the regime of the commission to the five civilized tribes, nor will it alter the work in the Indian agency. The Indian question and statehood are entirely separate. The commission will continue on until the Indian estate is administered, and the Indian agency will be continued as long as the Indians have any business of any character that is not finally closed, and this means a great many years.

Clearing House Men Organize.

Shawnee, Ok., June 16.—The managers of the various clearing houses, established by the Farmers Co-operative Union throughout the Territory, perfected a permanent organization yesterday at Shawnee, with Alfred Boyle of Coalgate, I. T., president; G. M. Adams of Wanette, vice president; J. T. Taylor of Ardmore, I. T., secretary. Managers were present from twenty-two towns.

WILL BEGIN TO PREPARE AT ONCE FOR CONVENTION

Guthrie, Okla., June 16.—Governor Frantz who with chief justice Burford and Chas. H. Filson, secretary of the territory, constitutes the board which will have charge of the district of Oklahoma for the constitutional convention, said today while no steps had as yet been taken, they will begin their work at once. "No plan for the work has been proposed as yet, even tentatively," said Governor Frantz, "and no estimate has been made upon how long it will take to finish the work, although we believe we can get the Oklahoma portion of the work completed more quickly than can be the case in Indian Territory, owing to the absolute lack of local organization there. No steps will be taken toward the calling of the constitutional convention until the districting is completed in both territories."

The general opinion here seems to be that the work on the Indian Territory side will take up practically all of the six months allowed for that work by the enabling act. This would postpone the time of the constitutional convention until next spring.

Shooting at Mill Creek.

Mill Creek, I. T., June 16.—Dal Gibson, a drayman of this place was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by City Marshal Bud Moore here last night. Moore was attempting to arrest Gibson at the time. The ball passed through his arm and entered the body under the armpit. His recovery at this time is considered doubtful. Gibson is said to have drawn a pistol.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

SLIPPER and OXFORD BARGAINS

This is the time of the year many people buy their Oxfords. They wait for our cut price sales, knowing that their money will go much farther than at any other time. It's alright. It's good figuring.

RIGHT NOW IS A SPLENDID TIME TO BUY

You see we don't want to carry over a single pair of slippers or oxfords until next year; we want the room and the money for fall and winter stock. That's the whole story. We do this every year at this season. Shoe up the entire family. Think of the saving. Commencing this very day we put the knife deep into the price of every oxford in our store. Sale will last but a short time, but while it's on, it's the time to buy slippers. Come and get first pick. Don't delay.

THE TASK THAT CONFRONTS US.

Ada's statehood celebration Thursday night was all right. The 18th Recording District was among the first to celebrate the glorious tidings from Washington.

The punctuality and enthusiasm of our people in this regard is indicative of more. The vim of that demonstration indicates the people of this district will be punctual and faithful in the discharge of the new duties of citizenship which statehood will bring. We now face a mighty work, that of building a state. First must be built the foundation, the constitution. That foundation must be laid deep and broad, and so strong as to defy all assaults from the powerful enemies of just government. The enemy will be at the constitutional convention. And, however vigilant the people may be, he will have henchmen among the delegates seated. But it behooves the people to see that this treacherous element in the convention shall be so small as to prove impotent.

Such is the immediate task; such is the work that faces us first. The organic law of the new commonwealth must be vigorous and up-to-date, must be searching, must be impregnable. The people in this part of the country, at least, may be depended upon to send as delegate neither a pliant weakling, nor an outright traitor, nor a fool; but they will elect a man of brains, a man of discretion, a man of integrity and of courage—in a word an able champion of the people's rights.

ADA WANTS A WATERWAY, TOO.

The News is in receipt of a circular invitation from the Business Men's League of St. Louis, which in part reads as follows:

"The Business Men's League of St. Louis has called a convention of the commercial bodies and river improvement organizations of the Mississippi Valley, to be held in St. Louis on Thursday and Friday, the 15th and 16th of November.

"It is intended, through this convention, to bring to notice of Congress the urgent necessity for large appropriations for the Mississippi river, for the western waterways generally, and especially for the proposed deep-water canal from Chicago to the Gulf, the building of which will carry with it the improvement of the whole of the river.

"Every commercial organization in the Mississippi Valley will be entitled to send one delegate to each fifty members, provided that each organization shall be entitled to at least ten delegates, and every town in the Mississippi Valley where there is no commercial organization will be entitled to ten delegates."

Enclosed with the communication is a neat button bearing the epigrammatic legend, "River Regulation is Rate Regulation."

Of course Ada will want to send a delegate to help in this great undertaking. And among the "western waterways" he might push the claims of our Sandy creek. Judging from the difficulty Ada has experienced in bridging this mighty stream, it ought easily to be made navigable. Be it understood Muskogee has not the only water way in the new state. When we get a congressman down here he must land for us some of that big river improvement appropriation. Every congressman does, though some of the favored streams might be spanned by a violin bridge. So, we want ours. Hurrah for Sandy.

They Are all Right.

The members of the Roff band discoursed some very sweet music not only at the jollification Thursday night, but Friday morning before leaving town, that was highly appreciated. They are a gentlemanly set of fellows and players of no mean ability and Ada is always glad to welcome them.

SANDSTORM AT SEA.

EVENTFUL VOYAGE OF A SHIP FROM CALCUTTA.

Encounters Most Singular Conditions in the Red Sea—Decks Two Inches Deep with Powder Grit.

New York.—The log of the German steamship Schonefels, from Calcutta, which docked at South Brooklyn the other day, tells a story of storm experiences of a more varied character than is often encountered by China traders of modern times in a single voyage.

With the exception of the time the steamship was in the Suez canal it had only one day of good weather from the time it entered the Red sea, the succession of disturbances it encountered ranging from a sandstorm in the Red sea to a hurricane as it neared this coast and winding up with the strong westerly blow which compelled Capt. Denker to anchor off Liberty Island before he could safely dock on the exposed Brooklyn side of the bay.

The Schonefels left Calcutta January 29, touched at Colombo February 5 for 24 hours, reached Suez the 18th and Algiers the 26th.

February 16, while in the Red sea, the ship ran into a sandstorm which lasted for two days, covering the decks several inches deep with a fine, powdery grit and keeping the officers and men who had to be on deck continually sneezing and coughing.

"We first noticed the sandstorm early on February 16," said Chief Officer Friedrich Kloppeburg. "Ahead of us the air was dense with a thick, yellowish mist, which at first we thought to be smoke-laden fog. When we ran into it every man on deck was set to coughing and sneezing. It was like running through a light smoke. You could discern objects in every direction for a considerable distance, but everything had a yellowish tinge."

"We had to keep all cabin ports closed and every time one passed in or out of a door a cloud of the fine, yellow sand sifted in and covered everything. There was little wind at the time and the sea was comparatively smooth, but the air was completely surcharged with the fine grit. Evidently there had been a severe sandstorm just before we reached that point and we ran into the aftermath."

"After leaving Port Said we had continuous rough weather, with one storm after another, which kept our decks awash and the ship laboring heavily all the way through the Mediterranean. A peculiarity about these storms was that one would be bitterly cold, with biting, freezing wind, and perhaps the next would be like a summer gale, high wind, but as not as though coming from a blast furnace."

"After leaving the Mediterranean we had about 36 hours good weather and then the Storm King got after us again. He came at us from the westward, the northwest and the southwest, one blow after another. The ship was rolling and laboring heavily in these successive storms, with high, dangerous seas continually breaking on board, until we were nearing this coast on March 14, when the wind died down for a few hours. But before midnight it broke out again from the eastward and by the 16th was blowing a gale. We made the Delaware breakwater in that gale and were safe in shelter during the worst of it, in which this coast was dotted with distressed and stranded vessels."

"The 34 Lascars in our crew of 63 had no clothing but their customary native garments of cotton and the first thing when we docked they sent a messenger ashore for heavy flannels before they would come on deck to clean up ship. We are fortunate that, with all the terrible weather we came through, not a man was hurt and no damage was done on board which 'Chips,' the ship's carpenter, could not repair almost as soon as it occurred."

Suction of a Train.

The peril of standing too near to flying railroad trains was shown at Mamaroneck, Westchester county, N. Y., on a recent afternoon, when Robert Coward, deputy county clerk, was caught in the suction of the Boston express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, dragged 40 feet and instantly killed. It is not an unusual thing for persons to test the sensation of standing near a train passing at a high rate of speed. The train in this case was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour and the displacement of air in such a case is terrific, causing a rush of it in the immediate vicinity which even strong men sometimes cannot resist.

Hot Water Ousts a Bear.

A big black bear, took possession of the cab of a Colorado & Southern locomotive near Como, Col., and fought fiercely rather than abandon its warm abode. It was finally routed out with hot water and a hose from another locomotive. A snowplow with five locomotives had been engaged in clearing the tracks of snow and during the night the string of engines was left on a sidetrack, with fires banked and only one watchman. The next morning the bear was found in one of the cabs. None of the party was armed and other means to dislodge him having failed the hose was used and bruin took to the mountains.

LAST INDIAN'S HONOR.

Well-Known Red Man of Washington State Is Drawn for Jury Service.

Seattle, Wash.—To have the honor of being the first Indian in King county who was drawn for jury service is the proud distinction of James Moses, of Renton, who will serve at the April term, superior court.

Jim Moses, as he is known all over the Sound country, is the last of the famous peace loving Black River tribe of Indians. Moses was born in Eagle Harbor, whither his grandfather had gone with the Black River tribe during the Indian wars of 1857. He lived there a short time and then came back with his parents to Renton, where he now owns a five-acre tract at the mouth of the Black river. His residence is on the home place of E. M. Smithers, the old pioneer, who died only a short time ago. He lives there with his wife and three children, two of whom are in the public schools at Renton. In speaking of his being drawn on the jury list James Moses said:

"It is certainly a distinction to be drawn on the jury in this county and to have an active voice in the affairs of the country again. The fact that I am the first one of all the Indians in this county to be drawn makes me feel proud, not only for myself but for the honor of my race, which was always loyal to the peaceful conditions of the white men."

CARTOGRAPH THE LATEST.

Automobile Attachment Which Shows the Chauffeur the Road Before Him.

Vienna.—American automobilists will soon be crying for the cartograph, an almost human invention which is being shown here, if it comes up to the claims made for it.

Think of an attachment somewhat resembling the contrivance by which self-playing pianos are made by the unskilled to produce masterpieces! The cartograph, instead of being a perforated music roll, is a map of the roads to be traversed by the motor car unrolling in a panel in front of the chauffeur so that he can tell at a glance where he is and which turn to take. The speed of the machine governs the motion of the map, so that it always indicates—or should—the exact point where the traveler is.

Moreover, the cartograph is provided with perforations just ahead of where the short turns and corners are and these perforations ring a bell to warn the motorist in time. Even on the darkest night by means of this device it is as sure, and a wholly unknown route can be covered without danger of being lost or dithered.

The next logical step would be a contrivance to attach the cartograph to mechanical means of controlling the steering gear and levers so that the motorist can set it going and look for the machinery to do all the rest.

LAND FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

State Aid Plan for Groups of Men to Be Tried in Australia.

Washington.—Consul Godding, of Newcastle, reports an Australian plan to provide for the unemployed. It relates to Queensland province, and the scheme is thus summarized:

Suitable farming land is provided by the government for groups of men and their families that will ultimately form village settlements; but they are not to be cooperative, each settler will stand or fall on his own merits. Government overseers will guide and instruct the settlers for two years, and the house erected for their use can be used as a public hall or school.

Plain rations, implements, a small stock of cows, poultry, etc., roofing material, water tanks, etc., will be supplied for the first year. This will all be charged as a loan and must be eventually refunded to the state. The men will first be taken on six months' probation and may cultivate what crops they choose, and every encouragement will be given to enable the thrifty man to become the owner of his land.

No Paradise for Women.

So far as legal rights are concerned, Texas is not the married woman's paradise. A married woman has no property of her own. If she earns anything her husband can collect and spend it. He can squander her inheritance or gamble away her estate. Not long since, reports the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a woman whose drunken husband had deserted her bought a sewing machine on the installment plan and proceeded to make a living for herself and several small children. The husband discovered the fact and the terms of the bargain and, the day before the agent was to call for the second payment, went to the bank where the wife had deposited her little savings for this purpose, wrote a check and drew every dollar as her "manager."

Royal Oculist.

A committee has been appointed by the eye specialists of Paris to draw up a letter of congratulations to Duke Theodore of Bavaria, brother of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who has just performed his five thousandth successful operation. The duke enjoys a world-wide reputation as an oculist and has built a hospital at Tgernsee where he practices. Patients come from all parts of the world to be treated. The royal surgeon never accepts a fee from a poor patient, but taxes the rich according to their means.

PROTECT THE BIRDS.

CHILDREN IN DENVER HAVE AN AUDUBON SOCIETY.

Young Humanitarians Are Keen Detectives and Keep Close Watch Over the Dumb Creatures.

Denver.—There are three societies comprised of children in Denver, with over 1,000 members, who make it part of their lives to see that birds are not molested or shot. That is why there are fewer small boys in this city who rob birds' nests than in any other community in the world.

If a bluejay flies into the trees before your house, now that spring is on the flood, and if he insults you for hours with his raucous jeers and flutters, don't allow your temper to cause you to throw a stone at the boor. Beware! You will have a tot threatening you with the law of the state of Colorado. And you cannot avoid them, either. Their "Bands of Mercy" are all over Denver.

Mrs. Florence Robinson is the president of Columbine Band of Mercy; Harry Harris is the secretary (and a society with a secretary so young must be dangerous).

Miss Eliza Lentz, who has been noted for her humane work for years here, is organizing these bands of mercy over the state. The youngsters have a constitution, by-laws and wear buttons just like grown-ups.

Then there is the Juvenile Audubon society. Above all, beware of these mites. You can never escape from their revenging clutches if they ever catch you breaking the bird law.

Mrs. Martha A. Shute, secretary of the State Horticultural society, is the organizer of the Juveniles, and they meet once a month in the basement of the capitol to tell each other of the good deeds they have done for animals.

Dr. Mary E. Bates, who is at the head of the Humane Education society, gives illustrated stereopticon lectures every two weeks in the churches.

But back of the children is the State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, with E. K. Whitehead as the secretary. Mr. Whitehead cares more for animals than he does for men, he'll tell you any day. And the law in Colorado is the strictest in the world in this line. The punishment for cruelty to animals, including birds, of course, is a fine of from $10 to $250, or a year in the county jail, or both.

The children of these Bands of Mercy and Juvenile Audubon societies are the detectives, and they gather evidence against brutal men who mistreat animals, which the Humane society uses in its prosecutions.

TO HATCH OSTRICH EGGS.

Incubators Shipped from Indianapolis to Farm in South Africa.

Indianapolis Ind.—An Indianapolis concern, the eastern branch of the Petaluma Incubator company, of Petaluma, Cal., of which W. A. Eschbach is manager, shipped the other day nine incubators to far-off Africa, three of which will be used to bring baby ostriches into the sunshine of the dark continent.

"It isn't the proper thing at all for the mother ostrich to 'set' nowadays and hatch her chicks," said Mr. Eschbach, "and so we provide her with an incubator. The incubator does the work just as well as the old-fashioned method, and leaves Mother Ostrich with plenty of time to attend to her household duties."

"The first ostrich incubators were used in South Pasadena, Cal., I think, not very long ago. Their worth has spread to Africa, and so we are sending some over there. The patterns which we are shipping to Algoa Bay, which is on the southeast coast of Africa, are 45-egg affairs—that is they will accommodate 45 ostrich eggs."

The order for the incubators came to the Indianapolis house through New York brokers, who carefully concealed the identity of their customers in Africa.

Town Being Buried.

Uncle Sam is deliberately burying one of his tiny towns at the world's highest dam, building on the Salt river, Arizona, which will submerge and completely obliterate the town of Roosevelt. The work is well under way, and by 1908 the town is expected to be 172 feet under water. It is thought that the head obtained will be the means of securing abundant power. A temporary power plant, a cement mill, ice plant, lighting plant and sawmill have been completed. A telephone line has been installed at the headworks of the power canal, 18 miles above Roosevelt, and extended in the other direction to the site of the great dam, which is 30 miles from Phoenix.

Playmates Married at 60.

James A. Wikel, of Montpelier, Ind., and Mrs. Eliza Rogers, both past the 60-year milestone and former playmates, were married at Big Rapids a few days ago. Wikel desired a wife and engaged a matrimonial bureau in his quest. Correspondence brought him in touch with his former playmate, but he didn't know about her until he had procured the marriage license. He found her making butter, introduced himself, and marriage followed.

RAIN SAVES OWNER'S LIFE.

Butted In When Bull Was on the Point of Charging on Farmer.

Middleton, N. Y.—Timothy Freelove, always boasting that he was beholden to none, thanks his stars to-day because one of the humblest "butted in" at a crisis in his affairs. He has for 60 years been farming near Leonard Center and all Orange county knows him.

Once he was spry upon his feet, but when his belted Holstein bull which he was leading to water knocked him down he found it hard to regain his balance. The Holstein retired a few paces, scalped the turf, lowered his head and was ready to charge the helpless farmer. It was in the middle of a ten-acre lot and no human aid was nigh.

Just as the last snort had been given by the king of the meadow there was a swift flash of dull gray and curled horns. Something struck that bull right in the middle of the forehead, backed away, made a swift detour and came at him again from the rear. The Holstein ran like a creature possessed of many devils. He was pursued by what looked like a moving blur. Then his front legs nearly collapsed under him.

Freelove got to his feet as quickly as he could and gained the refuge of the road. There he saw a frightened bull bellowing and dodging about a yard in advance of Dan'l, a Dorset ram, which had gained entrance through a break in the fence and had gone to the rescue of his master. The bull finally sought refuge at the top of a large heap of stones, up which the ram could not charge. The Dorset was finally called away from the scene of hostilities.

"I always set a heap o' store by Dan'l," said Freelove, "and I hereby give it out that I pension the critter for life."

FIND BRITTLE CHILDREN.

Two in England Whose Bones Are So Fragile They Snap Under Slight Pressure.

London.—In a case at Blackpool in which a man was charged with neglecting to send his two children to school he stated that both children had suffered from broken thighs and every time they walked or ran their bones snapped. In the circumstances he dare not send them to a public school, as he was afraid the other children would be rough with them.

"Children whose bones are as fragile as porcelain, whose limbs almost break in a puff of wind or if they laugh excessively are rare," says an eminent physician. "Such a disease is confined almost to adults and though common on the continent is almost unknown in England. It is the most rare disease of childhood."

"The occurrence of the disease in certain localities has impressed some medical men with the idea that some unknown climatic conditions may cause the trouble, but the true cause remains for the present a mystery."

"Brittle children will always be with us and by this one does not limit the statement to the brittle-boned child. There are those whose constitution is so delicate that they acquire almost any disease with astounding rapidity."

"The primary cause of the susceptibility of the brittle child to disease is due to loss of nervous tone and to its loss of response to outside influence—the protective response which wires off messages to the organs or organs attacked and puts them in a defensive condition. This loss of nervous tone follows, of course, as a consequence of long-continued malnutrition."

WALKING BREAKS ANKLES.

Woman's First Step in Twenty-Seven Years Results in Painful Injury.

Seaford, Cal.—Believing that she could walk out into the back yard, Mrs. Ann Milligan, an invalid for 27 years, during which time she has never been able to sit up and take a step, attempted to get up and walk. She hobbled a few yards and fell. Her daughter-in-law, hearing her cries, hastened to the room to find her mother lying helpless on the floor. She got her back in the bed and it was found that both of her ankles were broken. This was the first time that the woman had been out of bed since 1879.

When asked why she attempted to walk she exclaimed that for the first time in 27 years she felt as though she could walk out and enjoy the beautiful sunshine.

No More Bleached Blondes.

The chemical blonde has very nearly disappeared from the enlightened gaze of men. Once upon a time, says the Boston Herald, the yellow and strawberry beauty was taken at her own coloring, but now it is useless to practice any such deception. Sophistication rules the hour. No masculine, much less feminine, eye can be deceived. Her lustrous hair is woman's glory and to arrive at it she must cling to the color in which nature turned her out, be she blonde, brunette or nondescript. No beauty doctor or dyer's art can change the leopard's spots without hazard of betrayal.

News by Way of India.

A French newspaper of late date states that the people of Norway have sent several invitations to Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of President Roosevelt, to become their queen.

WARNS BAR PATRONS

SALOONKEEPER ISSUES CARD SHOWING EVILS OF DRINK.

Most Remarkable Method of Advertising on Record—Calls Drinkers Fools and Himself Honest.

Tombstone, Ariz.—Tombstone claims to have the frankest saloonkeeper in the United States. He keeps the Temple Bar saloon and advertises his business in a remarkable manner. He has had cards printed bearing the following words:

"Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My liquors will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed."

"They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases."

"They will deprive some of life, others of reason, many of character and all of peace. They will make fathers flend, wives widows, children orphans and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus 'accommodate the public'—it may be at the loss of my never-dying soul. But I have a family to support, the business pays and the public encourages it."

"I have paid my license and the traffic is lawful, and if I don't sell it somebody will. I know the Bible says: 'Thou shalt not kill, no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven,' and I do not expect the drunkard maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species."

"I shall, therefore, carry on my business with energy and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensibility and ignorance I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth."

"Should you doubt my ability I refer you to the pawnshops, the poorhouse, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say."

"Allow me to inform you that you are fools and that I am an honest saloon keeper."

FIGHT HATS WITH HATS.

League Formed by Men in Paris to Put Down Women's High Headgear.

Paris.—Men of Paris who are habitual patrons of the theaters have decided to fight fire with fire in their crusade against obstructive headgear. They have formed a league which has for its object nightly attendance en masse at some theater, each member of the organization wearing a cockade on his tall silk hat and wearing the hat throughout the performance.

In order to make their object more effective the members of the league will purchase in advance solid rows of seats in front of the house. The managers of the various theaters have decided to raise no objection to the plan, but the women declare they will not abandon the big hat habit nor remove their hats, no matter what kind of "ungentlemanly" tactics are resorted to by the men.

One of their pet reasons for not removing their hats is that by so doing they are nowadays compelled to take off any quantity of artificial hair at the same time.

SEA GULL FOUND IN KANSAS

Huge Specimen Killed by Hunter a Long Distance from Native Element.

Topeka, Kan.—Frank Carpenter, one of Pittsburg's hunters, enjoys the distinction of bringing in the first sea gull that has ever been killed in this section of the country.

The bird measures five feet from tip to tip and is a large specimen of its kind. Gulls are not a common species of the bird world, but occasionally what is known as the dry water gull is seen in the country along the streams, but a genuine sea gull is an exceptionally rare bird.

This one is supposed to have been driven inland by the severe storms that have been blowing over the country for the last two or three weeks, and after getting into this section of the world, far away from salt water, became lost and was simply flying around from place to place in an effort to get its bearing.

When found by Mr. Carpenter it was being fought by crows, who were making all sorts of noise over their capture, and to get away from them it took to the water, where its tormentors left it.

Diaz as a Hunter.

The daily papers of Mexico are speaking with pride of the prowess of President Porfirio Diaz as a hunter. The chief executive will be 76 years old on September 15 next, and has just returned from a brief hunting trip in the western forests. Of three mountain cats laid low the president killed two, and 17 deer were captured.

TERRIBLE WINTER AT SEA.

Disasters to Ships During Past Season Cost Underwriters Millions.

New York.—Although last winter was remarkable for its mildness ashore, conditions on the seven seas have been exactly the reverse, the losses to the underwriters through disasters to ships aggregating several millions during the last four months. Speaking of the losses at sea, A. A. Raven, president of the board of New York Underwriters, said the other day:

"The Atlantic Mutual Insurance company, of which I am president, has had an unprecedentedly large number of losses this last winter, especially during the last two months. I think, however, the English companies have been hit harder than any others, and perhaps the Germans next. There are only a few distinctively American companies, but they've all suffered severely."

The figures of the underwriters indicate a loss of about $4,000,000 for the winter of 1905-06. The lumber carriers have been the heaviest losers, and next to them come the coal carriers. One of the veteran steamship men who discussed the stormy times at sea was Capt. Publicover, of the steamship Earl of Aberdeen, who lost his deckload while crossing the bay of Fundy in a gale the first of last month.

"The average landsman," said Capt. Publicover, "has no idea what this winter has been at sea. It's not only the hardships which officers and crews have suffered, but look at the losses of cargo and the damage to hulls and rigging. Why, the whole coast, from the gulf of St. Lawrence to New York, is lined with floating lumber, spars, rigging and wreckage. If the flotsam and jetsam from Marblehead to Montauk alone could be gathered up and sold for junk it would make a man rich."

BANDIT WILL TOUR WORLD.

Terror of Hungarian Peasantry in Former Times to Go on Exhibition.

Buda-Pesth.—Josi Cavaney, who 25 years ago was the terror and pride of Hungary, has arranged to tour the world under the management of a showman.

His deeds were celebrated in song and a whole romantic folklore was built up around this wild son of the mountains, who never hurt a woman or a poor man, but boldly attacked the castles of the rich and spent his booty in relief of distress.

He was finally caught and condemned to imprisonment for life. Once in prison he behaved with exemplary correctness, and during the 22 years he was in confinement earned the good will and even affection of all with whom he was brought in contact.

It was at the request of a bishop at last that the emperor gave him a free pardon and remitted the rest of his sentence on February 21. He changed his convict's dress for the same robber costume he put off so long ago and entered once again into the life of the world. But he found he could not live on his fame without showing himself and decided on a showman's tour.

GERMAN LINE IS FASTEST.

Average Better Time Than Competing Transatlantic Mail Steamers.

Berlin.—The superior speed of the German transatlantic mail steamers is shown in the official report on mail services between Great Britain and the United States for the year ending June 30, 1905.

The North German Lloyd steamers Kaiser Wilhelm II., Kronprinz Wilhelm and Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse made nine, ten and eleven trips, respectively, by which time the mails between New York and London averaged 149.5, 150.9 and 152.5 hours. The fastest time was 144.1 hours.

The Deutschland made eight mail deliveries, its average time being 150.4 hours. Its quickest delivery was 147.2 hours. The Cunard line steamers are a day longer. The Campania, which made the best time, averaged 167.4 hours. Its best time was 163.4 hours.

The White Star line steamer Oceanic tied the Cunard line's fastest time, but the other White Star steamers are far slower. The Philadelphia was the fastest of the American line, and averaged 177.6 hours.

Wealthiest Negro Farmer.

Cody Bryant enjoys the distinction of being the wealthiest negro farmer in Georgia. Bryant's estate, which he has accumulated without receiving outside aid within the last quarter of a century, is reputed to be worth between $50,000 and $100,000. He owns unencumbered nearly 2,000 acres of the finest farming land in middle Georgia, much of it being valued at $50 an acre. In addition to his extensive land holdings Bryant has large sums invested in various enterprises in his section. Bryant runs about 60 plows on his various farms in Jasper county.

The First Alcohol.

A scientist says that when people were cave-dwellers their diet consisted entirely of roots and fruits and that it is not unnatural to suppose that the food was often stored away. In course of time the fruit fermented, the sugar in it was turned into pure alcohol and the cave-dwellers drank it and got to like it. This was the beginning of the use of alcohol.

BILL IS ON ITS WAY TO THE PRESIDENT

Washington, June 16.—The statehood bill was signed by Speaker Cannon last evening, and it will be signed by the Vice President today.

Then Mr. McGuire will take it to the White House. It is not probable that the President will sign it today, for he is not apt to have the time to examine it, so that the last act needed to confer statehood upon Oklahoma and Indian Territory will not be conferred until next week.

Mr. McGuire will ask to be informed when the President gets ready to sign it, for he wishes to be present. The pen with which it is to be signed has already been bought. It will be delivered to the Oklahoma Historical Association.

AFTER THE BIG TRUST THAT FARMS THE FARMER

Washington, June 16.—Officials of the Department of Justice have struck a blow against the so-called Fertilizer Trust, a combination which in the amount of its capital is declared to be greater than the Standard Oil Company. Indictments have been returned against thirty-one corporations and twenty-five individuals and firms.

It is charged that the combination has mulcted Southern planters and farmers out of many millions of dollars in the last few years through its shrewd and secret methods.

The proceedings were brought in the United States Circuit

Court for the Middle District of Tennessee. The grand jury returned an indictment against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. et al. This is a corporation with a capital of fifty million, existing under the laws of New Jersey. With it are allied a large number of other concerns. A list of the defendants includes Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. of Chicago.

At the C. P. Church.

Preaching Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

STATEHOOD WILL ABOLISH MANY LUCRATIVE OFFICES

Muskogee, I. T., June 16.—The greatest disturbance that will occur in official life in Indian Territory on account of the passage of the statehood bill will be in the federal courts. They will continue until a state government is established, and that will be nearly a year, but the federal court regime, as it has been known in Indian Territory since 1889 when the courts were established, will be wiped out forever. Indian Territory will comprise one federal district and there will be but one set of federal officers where there are now four, and some of these double manned.

There are more fat salaries in the federal courts in Indian Territory than most people suppose, and these will be wiped out. There are four federal districts. There are two judges in each district and they draw salaries of $5,000 per year each. In each district there is a United States marshal who draws $4,000 per year. He has an average of thirty office and field deputies, making 120 in all, and these deputies draw average salaries of $1,200 per year. For each district there is a clerk of the court who draws $4,000 per year. Each clerk has from four to six deputies and five each in recording towns, making possibly 40 in all, these deputies draw from $1,200 to $1,800 per year. There are four district attorneys who each draw $4,000 per year, and there are ten assistants who draw from $1,200 to $2,000 per year. There are 26 commissioners who draw salaries of $1,500 per year and each commissioner has a constable who draws $800 per year.

It will be seen from this list that there are right now more high salaried officers in Indian Territory than there will be in Oklahoma when it becomes a state. As soon as the statehood bill becomes a law, these officials will commence resigning. This is especially true of those who happen to be lawyers. They will have greater opportunities in the next few months than ever again to make money and they will not hesitate to drop their present office holding jobs which can last at best but a short time longer.

There is some question as to what will become of the present school officials. Of course as soon as a state system is formulated these will go out, but that may be a long time in the future. The advent of statehood will not in the least disturb the regime of the commission to the five civilized tribes, nor will it alter the work in the Indian agency. The Indian question and statehood are entirely separate. The commission will continue on until the Indian estate is administered, and the Indian agency will be continued as long as the Indians have any business of any character that is not finally closed, and this means a great many years.

Clearing House Men Organize.

Shawnee, Ok., June 16.—The managers of the various clearing houses, established by the Farmers Co-operative Union throughout the Territory, perfected a permanent organization yesterday at Shawnee, with Alfred Boyle of Coalgate, I. T., president; G. M. Adams of Wanette, vice president; J. T. Taylor of Ardmore, I. T., secretary. Managers were present from twenty-two towns.

WILL BEGIN TO PREPARE AT ONCE FOR CONVENTION

Guthrie, Okla., June 16.—Governor Frantz who with chief justice Burford and Chas. H. Filson, secretary of the territory, constitutes the board which will have charge of the district of Oklahoma for the constitutional convention, said today while no steps had as yet been taken, they will begin their work at once. "No plan for the work has been proposed as yet, even tentatively," said Governor Frantz, "and no estimate has been made upon how long it will take to finish the work, although we believe we can get the Oklahoma portion of the work completed more quickly than can be the case in Indian Territory, owing to the absolute lack of local organization there. No steps will be taken toward the calling of the constitutional convention until the districting is completed in both territories."

The general opinion here seems to be that the work on the Indian Territory side will take up practically all of the six months allowed for that work by the enabling act. This would postpone the time of the constitutional convention until next spring.

Shooting at Mill Creek.

Mill Creek, I. T., June 16.—Dal Gibson, a drayman of this place was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by City Marshal Bud Moore here last night. Moore was attempting to arrest Gibson at the time. The ball passed through his arm and entered the body under the armpit. His recovery at this time is considered doubtful. Gibson is said to have drawn a pistol.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

SLIPPER and OXFORD BARGAINS

This is the time of the year many people buy their Oxfords. They wait for our cut price sales, knowing that their money will go much farther than at any other time. It's alright. It's good figuring.

RIGHT NOW IS A SPLENDID TIME TO BUY

You see we don't want to carry over a single pair of slippers or oxfords until next year; we want the room and the money for fall and winter stock. That's the whole story. We do this every year at this season. Shoe up the entire family. Think of the saying. Commencing this very day we put the knife deep into the price of every oxford in our store. Sale will last but a short time, but while it's on, it's the time to buy slippers. Come and get first pick. Don't delay.

THE TASK THAT CONFRONTS US.

Ada's statehood celebration Thursday night was all right. The 18th Recording District was among the first to celebrate the glorious tidings from Washington.

The punctuality and enthusiasm of our people in this regard is indicative of more. The vim of that demonstration indicates the people of this district will be punctual and faithful in the discharge of the new duties of citizenship which statehood will bring. We now face a mighty work, that of building a state. First must be built the foundation, the constitution. That foundation must be laid deep and broad, and so strong as to defy all assaults from the powerful enemies of just government. The enemy will be at the constitutional convention. And, however vigilant the people may be, he will have henchmen among the delegates seated. But it behooves the people to see that this treacherous element in the convention shall be so small as to prove impotent.

Such is the immediate task; such is the work that faces us first. The organic law of the new commonwealth must be vigorous and up-to-date, must be searching, must be impregnable. The people in this part of the country, at least, may be depended upon to send as delegate neither a pliant weakling, nor an outright traitor, nor a fool; but they will elect a man of brains, a man of discretion, a man of integrity and of courage—in a word an able champion of the people's rights.

ADA WANTS A WATERWAY, TOO.

The News is in receipt of a circular invitation from the Business Men's League of St. Louis, which in part reads as follows:

"The Business Men's League of St. Louis has called a convention of the commercial bodies and river improvement organizations of the Mississippi Valley, to be held in St. Louis on Thursday and Friday, the 15th and 16th of November.

"It is intended, through this convention, to bring to notice of Congress the urgent necessity for large appropriations for the Mississippi river, for the western waterways generally, and especially for the proposed deep-water canal from Chicago to the Gulf, the building of which will carry with it the improvement of the whole of the river.

"Every commercial organization in the Mississippi Valley will be entitled to send one delegate to each fifty members, provided that each organization shall be entitled to at least ten delegates, and every town in the Mississippi Valley where there is no commercial organization will be entitled to ten delegates."

Enclosed with the communication is a neat button bearing the epigrammatic legend, "River Regulation is Rate Regulation."

Of course Ada will want to send a delegate to help in this great undertaking. And among the "western waterways" he might push the claims of our Sandy creek. Judging from the difficulty Ada has experienced in bridging this mighty stream, it ought easily to be made navigable. Be it understood Muskogee has not the only water way in the new state. When we get a congressman down here he must land for us some of that big river improvement appropriation. Every congressman does, though some of the favored streams might be spanned by a violin bridge. So, we want ours. Hurrah for Sandy.

The members of the Roff band discoursed some very sweet music not only at the jollification Thursday night, but Friday morning before leaving town, that was highly appreciated. They are a gentlemanly set of fellows and players of no mean ability and Ada is always glad to welcome them.

SANDSTORM AT SEA.

EVENTFUL VOYAGE OF A SHIP FROM CALCUTTA.

Encounters Most Singular Conditions in the Red Sea—Decks Two Inches Deep with Powder Grit.

New York.—The log of the German steamship Schoenfeld, from Calcutta, which docked at South Brooklyn the other day, tells a story of storm experiences of a more varied character than is often encountered by China traders of modern times in a single voyage.

With the exception of the time the steamship was in the Suez canal it had only one day of good weather from the time it entered the Red sea, the succession of disturbances it encountered ranging from a sandstorm in the Red sea to a hurricane as it neared this coast and winding up with the strong westerly blow which compelled Capt. Denker to anchor off Liberty Island before he could safely dock on the exposed Brooklyn side of the bay.

The Schoenfeld left Calcutta January 29, touched at Colombo February 5 for 24 hours, reached Suez the 18th and Algiers the 26th.

February 16, while in the Red sea, the ship ran into a sandstorm which lasted for two days, covering the decks several inches deep with a fine, powdery grit and keeping the officers and men who had to be on deck continually sneezing and coughing.

"We first noticed the sandstorm early on February 16," said Chief Officer Dietrich Kloppenburg. "Ahead of us the air was dense with a thick, yellowish mist, which at first we thought to be smoke-laden fog. When we ran into it every man on deck was set to choking and sneezing. It was like running through a light smoke. You could discern objects in every direction for a considerable distance, but everything had a yellowish tinge."

"We had to keep all cabin ports closed and every time one passed in or out of a door a cloud of the fine, yellow sand sifted in and covered everything. There was little wind at the time and the sea was comparatively smooth, but the air was completely surcharged with the fine grit. Evidently there had been a severe sandstorm just before we reached that point and we ran into the aftermath."

"After leaving Port Said we had continuous rough weather, with one storm after another, which kept our decks awash and the ship laboring heavily all the way through the Mediterranean. A peculiarity about these storms was that one would be bitterly cold, with biting, freezing wind, and perhaps the next would be like a summer gale, high wind, but as not as though coming from a blast furnace."

"After leaving the Mediterranean we had about 36 hours good weather and then the Storm King got after us again. He came at us from the westward, the northwest and the southwest, one blow after another. The ship was rolling and laboring heavily in these successive storms, with high, dangerous seas continually breaking on board, until we were nearing this coast on March 14, when the wind died down for a few hours. But before midnight it broke out again from the eastward and by the 16th was blowing a gale. We made the Delaware breakwater in that gale and were safe in shelter during the worst of it, in which this coast was dotted with distressed and stranded vessels."

"The 34 Lascars in our crew of 63 had no clothing but their customary native garments of cotton and the first thing when we docked they sent a messenger ashore for heavy flannels before they would come on deck to clean up ship. We are fortunate that, with all the terrible weather we came through, not a man was hurt and no damage was done on board which 'Chips,' the ship's carpenter, could not repair almost as soon as it occurred."

Suction of a Train.

The peril of standing too near to flying railroad trains was shown at Mamaronock, Westchester county, N. Y., on a recent afternoon, when Robert Coward, deputy county clerk, was caught in the suction of the Boston express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, dragged 40 feet and instantly killed. It is not an unusual thing for persons to test the sensation of standing near a train passing at a high rate of speed. The train in this case was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour and the displacement of air in such a case is terrific, causing a rush of it in the immediate vicinity which even strong men sometimes cannot resist.

Hot Water Ousts a Bear.

A big black bear, took possession of the cab of a Colorado & Southern locomotive near Como, Col., and fought fiercely rather than abandon its warm abode. It was finally routed out with hot water and a hose from another locomotive. A snowplow with five locomotives had been engaged in clearing the tracks of snow and during the night the string of engines was left on a sidetrack, with fires banked and only one watchman. The next morning the bear was found in one of the cabs. None of the party was armed and other means to dislodge him having failed the hose was used and bruins took to the mountains.

LAST INDIAN'S HONOR.

Well-Known Red Man of Washington State Is Drawn for Jury Service.

Seattle, Wash.—To have the honor of being the first Indian in King county who was drawn for jury service is the proud distinction of James Moses, of Renton, who will serve at the April term, superior court.

Jim Moses, as he is known all over the Sound country, is the last of the famous peace loving Black River tribe of Indians. Moses was born in Eagle Harbor, whither his grandfather had gone with the Black River tribe during the Indian wars of 1857. He lived there a short time and then came back with his parents to Renton, where he now owns a five-acre tract at the mouth of the Black river. His residence is on the home place of E. M. Smithers, the old pioneer, who died only a short time ago. He lives there with his wife and three children, two of whom are in the public schools at Renton. In speaking of his being drawn on the jury list James Moses said:

"It is certainly a distinction to be drawn on the jury in this county and to have an active voice in the affairs of the country again. The fact that I am the first one of all the Indians in this county to be drawn makes me feel proud, not only for myself but for the honor of my race, which was always loyal to the peaceful conditions of the white men."

CARTOGRAPH THE LATEST.

Automobile Attachment Which Shows the Chauffeur the Road Before Him.

Vienna.—American automobilists will soon be crying for the cartograph, an almost human invention which is being shown here, if it comes up to the claims made for it.

Think of an attachment somewhat resembling the contrivance by which self-playing pianos are made by the unskilled to produce masterpieces! The cartograph, instead of being a perforated music roll, is a map of the roads to be traversed by the motor car unrolling in a panel in front of the chauffeur so that he can tell at a glance where he is and which turn to take. The speed of the machine governs the motion of the map, so that it always indicates—or should the exact point where the traveler is.

Moreover, the cartograph is provided with perforations just ahead of where the short turns and corners are and these perforations ring a bell to warn the motorist in time. Even on the darkest night by means of this device it is as sure, and a wholly unknown route can be covered without danger of being lost or ditched.

The next logical step would be a contrivance to attach the cartograph to mechanical means of controlling the steering gear and levers so that the motorist can set it going and look for the machinery to do all the rest.

LAND FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

State Aid Plan for Groups of Men to Be Tried in Australia.

Washington.—Consul Goding, of Newcastle, reports an Australian plan to provide for the unemployed. It relates to Queensland province, and the scheme is thus summarized:

Suitable farming land is provided by the government for groups of men and their families that will ultimately form village settlements; but they are not to be cooperative, each settler will stand or fall on his own merits. Government overseers will guide and instruct the settlers for two years, and the house erected for their use can be used as a public hall or school.

Plain rations, implements, a small stock of cows, poultry, etc., roofing material, water tanks, etc., will be supplied for the first year. This will all be charged as a loan and must be eventually refunded to the state. The men will first be taken on six months' probation and may cultivate what crops they choose, and every encouragement will be given to enable the thrifty man to become the owner of his land.

No Paradise for Women.

So far as legal rights are concerned, Texas is not the married woman's paradise. A married woman has no property of her own. If she earns anything her husband can collect and spend it. He can squander her inheritance or gamble away her estate. Not long since, reports the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a woman whose drunken husband had deserted her bought a sewing machine on the installment plan and proceeded to make a living for herself and several small children. The husband discovered the fact and the terms of the bargain and, the day before the agent was to call for the second payment, went to the bank where the wife had deposited her little savings for this purpose, wrote a check and drew every dollar as her "manager."

Royal Oculist.

A committee has been appointed by the eye specialists of Paris to draw up a letter of congratulations to Duke Theodore of Bavaria, brother of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who has just performed his five thousandth successful operation. The duke enjoys a world-wide reputation as an oculist and has built a hospital at Tegernsee where he practices. Patients come from all parts of the world to be treated. The royal surgeon never accepts a fee from a poor patient, but taxes the rich according to their means.

PROTECT THE BIRDS.

CHILDREN IN DENVER HAVE AN AUDUBON SOCIETY.

Young Humanitarians Are Keen Detectives and Keep Close Watch Over the Dumb Creatures.

Denver.—There are three societies comprised of children in Denver, with over 1,000 members, who make it part of their lives to see that birds are not molested or shot. That is why there are fewer small boys in this city who rob birds' nests than in any other community in the world.

If a bluejay flies into the trees before your house, now that spring is on the flood, and if he insults you for hours with his raucous jeers and feers, don't allow your temper to cause you to throw a stone at the boor. Beware! You will have a tot threatening you with the law of the state of Colorado. And you cannot avoid them, either. Their "Bands of Mercy" are all over Denver.

Mrs. Florence Robinson is the president of Columbine Band of Mercy; Harry Harris is the secretary (and a society with a secretary so young must be dangerous).

Miss Eliza Lentz, who has been noted for her humane work for years here, is organizing these bands of mercy over the state. The youngsters have a constitution, by-laws and wear buttons just like grown-ups.

Then there is the Juvenile Audubon society. Above all, beware of these mites. You can never escape from their revenging clutches if they ever catch you breaking the bird law.

Mrs. Martha A. Shute, secretary of the State Horticultural society, is the organizer of the Juveniles, and they meet once a month in the basement of the capitol to tell each other of the good deeds they have done for animals.

Dr. Mary E. Bates, who is at the head of the Humane Education society, gives illustrated stereopticon lectures every two weeks in the churches.

But back of the children is the State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, with E. K. Whitehead as the secretary. Mr. Whitehead cares more for animals than he does for men, he'll tell you any day. And the law in Colorado is the strictest in the world in this line. The punishment for cruelty to animals, including birds, of course, is a fine of from $10 to $250, or a year in the county jail, or both.

The children of these Bands of Mercy and Juvenile Audubon societies are the detectives, and they gather evidence against brutal men who mistreat animals, which the Humane society uses in its prosecutions.

TO HATCH OSTRICH EGGS.

Incubators Shipped from Indianapolis to Farm in South Africa.

Indianapolis Ind.—An Indianapolis concern, the eastern branch of the Petaluma Incubator company, of Petaluma, Cal., of which W. A. Eshbach is manager, shipped the other day nine incubators to far-off Africa, three of which will be used to bring baby ostriches into the sunshine of the dark continent.

"It isn't the proper thing at all for the mother ostrich to 'set' nowadays and hatch her chicks," said Mr. Eshbach, "and so we provide her with an incubator. The incubator does the work just as well as the old-fashioned method, and leaves Mother Ostrich with plenty of time to attend to her household duties."

"The first ostrich incubators were used in South Pasadena, Cal., I think, not very long ago. Their worth has spread to Africa, and so we are sending some over there. The patterns which we are shipping to Algoa Bay, which is on the southeast coast of Africa, are 45-egg affairs—that is they will accommodate 45 ostrich eggs."

The order for the incubators came to the Indianapolis house through New York brokers, who carefully concealed the identity of their customers in Africa.

Town Being Buried.

Uncle Sam is deliberately burying one of his tiny towns at the world's highest dam, building on the Salt river, Arizona, which will submerge and completely obliterate the town of Roosevelt. The work is well under way, and by 1908 the town is expected to be 172 feet under water. It is thought that the head obtained will be the means of securing abundant power. A temporary power plant, a cement mill, ice plant, lighting plant and sawmill have been completed. A telephone line has been installed at the headworks of the power canal, 18 miles above Roosevelt, and extended in the other direction to the site of the great dam, which is 20 miles from Phoenix.

Playmates Married at 60.

James A. Wikel, of Montpelier, Ind., and Mrs. Eliza Rogers, both past the 60-year milestone and former playmates, were married at Big Rapids a few days ago. Wikel desired a wife and engaged a matrimonial bureau in his quest. Correspondence brought him in touch with his former playmate, but he didn't know about her until he had procured the marriage license. He found her making butter, introduced himself, and marriage followed.

RAIN SAVES OWNER'S LIFE.

Butted In When Bull Was on the Point of Charging on Farmer.

Middleton, N. Y.—Timothy Freelove, always boasting that he was beholden to none, thanks his stars to-day because one of the humblest "butted in" at a crisis in his affairs. He has for 60 years been farming near Leonard Center and all Orange county knows him.

Once he was spry upon his feet, but when his belted Holstein bull which he was leading to water knocked him down he found it hard to regain his balance. The Holstein retired a few paces, scalped the turf, lowered his head and was ready to charge the helpless farmer. It was in the middle of a ten-acre lot and no human aid was nigh.

Just as the last snort had been given by the king of the meadow there was a swift flash of dull gray and curled horns. Something struck that bull right in the middle of the forehead, backed away, made a swift detour and came at him again from the rear. The Holstein ran like a creature possessed of many devils. He was pursued by that looked like a moving blur. Then his front legs nearly collapsed under him.

Freelove got to his feet as quickly as he could and gained the refuge of the road. There he saw a frightened bull bellowing and dodging about a yard in advance of Dan'l, a Dorset ram, which had gained entrance through a break in the fence and had gone to the rescue of his master. The bull finally sought refuge at the top of a large heap of stones, up which the ram could not charge. The Dorset was finally called away from the scene of hostilities.

"I always set a heap o' store by Dan'l," said Freelove, "and I hereby give it out that I pension this critter for life."

FIND BRITTLE CHILDREN.

Two in England Whose Bones Are So Fragile They Snap Under Slight Pressure.

London.—In a case at Blackpool in which a man was charged with neglecting to send his two children to school he stated that both children had suffered from broken thighs and every time they walked or ran their bones snapped. In the circumstances he dare not send them to a public school, as he was afraid the other children would be rough with them.

"Children whose bones are as fragile as porcelain, whose limbs almost break in a puff of wind or if they laugh excessively are rare," says an eminent physician. "Such a disease is confined almost to adults and though common on the continent is almost unknown in England. It is the most rare disease of childhood."

"The occurrence of the disease in certain localities has impressed some medical men with the idea that some unknown climatic conditions may cause the trouble, but the true cause remains for the present a mystery."

"Brittle children will always be with us and by this one does not limit the statement to the brittle-boned child. There are those whose constitution is so delicate that they acquire almost any disease with astounding rapidity."

"The primary cause of the susceptibility of the brittle child to disease is due to loss of nervous tone and to its loss of response to outside influence—the protective response which wires off messages to the organs or organs attacked and puts them in a defensive condition. This loss of nervous tone follows, of course, as a consequence of long-continued malnutrition."

WALKING BREAKS ANKLES.

Woman's First Step in Twenty-Seven Years Results in Painful Injury.

Seaford, Cal.—Believing that she could walk out into the back yard, Mrs. Ann Milligan, an invalid for 27 years, during which time she has never been able to sit up and take a step, attempted to get up and walk. She hobbled a few yards and fell. Her daughter-in-law, hearing her cries, hastened to the room to find her mother lying helpless on the floor. She got her back in the bed and it was found that both of her ankles were broken. This was the first time that the woman had been out of bed since 1879.

When asked why she attempted to walk she exclaimed that for the first time in 27 years she felt as though she could walk out and enjoy the beautiful sunshine.

No More Bleached Blondes.

The chemical blonde has very nearly disappeared from the enlightened gaze of men. Once upon a time, says the Boston Herald, the yellow and strawberry beauty was taken at her own coloring, but now it is useless to practice any such deception. Sophistication rules the hour. No masculine, much less feminine, eye can be deceived. Her lustrous hair is woman's glory and to arrive at it she must cling to the color in which nature turned her out, be she blonde, brunette or nondescript. No beauty doctor or dyer's art can change the leopard's spots without hazard of betrayal.

News by Way of India.

A French newspaper of late date states that the people of Norway have sent several invitations to Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of President Roosevelt, to become their queen.

WARNS BAR PATRONS

SALOONKEEPER ISSUES CARD SHOWING EVILS OF DRINK.

Most Remarkable Method of Advertising on Record—Calls Drinkers Fools and Himself Honest.

Tombstone, Ariz.—Tombstone claims to have the frankest saloonkeeper in the United States. He keeps the Temple Bar saloon and advertises his business in a remarkable manner. He has had cards printed bearing the following words:

"Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My liquors will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed."

"They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases."

"They will deprive some of life, others of reason, many of character and all of peace. They will make fathers fiends, wives widows, children orphans and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus 'accommodate the public'—it may be at the loss of my never-dying soul. But I have a family to support, the business pays and the public encourages it."

"I have paid my license and the traffic is lawful, and if I don't sell it somebody will. I know the Bible says: 'Thou shalt not kill, no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven,' and I do not expect the drunkard maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species."

"I shall, therefore, carry on my business with energy and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensibility and ignorance I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth."

"Should you doubt my ability I refer you to the pawnshops, the poorhouse, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say."

"Allow me to inform you that you are fools and that I am an honest saloon keeper."

FIGHT HATS WITH HATS.

League Formed by Men in Paris to Put Down Women's High Headgear.

Paris.—Men of Paris who are habitual patrons of the theaters have decided to fight fire with fire in their crusade against obstructive headgear. They have formed a league which has for its object nightly attendance en masse at some theater, each member of the organization wearing a cockade on his tall silk hat and wearing the hat throughout the performance.

In order to make their object more effective the members of the league will purchase in advance solid rows of seats in front of the house. The managers of the various theaters have decided to raise no objection to the plan, but the women declare they will not abandon the big hat habit nor remove their hats, no matter what kind of "ungentlemanly" tactics are resorted to by the men.

One of their pet reasons for not removing their hats is that by so doing they are nowadays compelled to take off any quantity of artificial hair at the same time.

SEA GULL FOUND IN KANSAS

Huge Specimen Killed by Hunter a Long Distance from Native Element.

Topeka, Kan.—Frank Carpenter, one of Pittsburg's hunters, enjoys the distinction of bringing in the first sea gull that has ever been killed in this section of the country.

The bird measures five feet from tip to tip and is a large specimen of its kind. Gulls are not a common species of the bird world, but occasionally what is known as the dry water gull is seen in the country along the streams, but a genuine sea gull is an exceptionally rare bird.

This one is supposed to have been driven inland by the severe storms that have been blowing over the country for the last two or three weeks, and after getting into this section of the world, far away from salt water, became lost and was simply flying around from place to place in an effort to get its bearing. When found by Mr. Carpenter it was being fought by crows, who were making all sorts of noise over their capture, and to get away from them it took to the water, where its tormentors left it.

Diaz as a Hunter.

The daily papers of Mexico are speaking with pride of the prowess of President Porfirio Diaz as a hunter. The chief executive will be 76 years old on September 15 next, and has just returned from a brief hunting trip in the western forests. Of three mountain cats laid low the president killed two, and 17 deer were captured.

TERRIBLE WINTER AT SEA.

Disasters to Ships During Past Season Cost Underwriters Millions.

New York.—Although last winter was remarkable for its mildness ashore, conditions on the seven seas have been exactly the reverse, the losses to the underwriters through disasters to ships aggregating several millions during the last four months.

Speaking of the losses at sea, A. A. Raven, president of the board of New York Underwriters, said the other day:

"The Atlantic Mutual Insurance company, of which I am president, has had an unprecedentedly large number of losses this last winter, especially during the last two months. I think, however, the English companies have been hit harder than any others, and perhaps the Germans next. There are only a few distinctively American companies, but they've all suffered severely."

The figures of the underwriters indicate a loss of about $4,000,000 for the winter of 1905-06. The lumber carriers have been the heaviest losers, and next to them come the coal carriers. One of the veteran steamship men who discussed the stormy times at sea was Capt. Publicover, of the steamship Earl of Aberdeen, who lost his deckload while crossing the bay of Fundy in a gale the first of last month.

"The average landman," said Capt. Publicover, "has no idea what this winter has been at sea. It's not only the hardships which officers and crews have suffered, but look at the losses of cargo and the damage to hulls and rigging. Why, the whole coast, from the gulf of St. Lawrence to New York, is lined with floating lumber, spars, rigging and wreckage. If the fleets and jetties from Marblehead to Montauk alone could be gathered up and sold for junk it would make a man rich."

BANDIT WILL TOUR WORLD.

Terror of Hungarian Peasantry in Former Times to Go on Exhibition.

Buda-Pesth.—Josi Cavaney, who 25 years ago was the terror and pride of Hungary, has arranged to tour the world under the management of a showman.

His deeds were celebrated in song and a whole romantic folklore was built up around this wild son of the mountains, who never hurt a woman or a poor man, but boldly attacked the castles of the rich and spent his booty in relief of distress.

He was finally caught and condemned to imprisonment for life. Once in prison he behaved with exemplary correctness, and during the 22 years he was in confinement earned the good will and even affection of all with whom he was brought in contact.

It was at the request of a bishop at last that the emperor gave him a free pardon and remitted the rest of his sentence on February 21. He changed his convict's dress for the same robber costume he put off so long ago and entered once again into the life of the world. But he found he could not live on his fame without showing himself and decided on a showman's tour.

GERMAN LINE IS FASTEST.

Average Better Time Than Competing Transatlantic Mail Steamers.

Berlin.—The superior speed of the German transatlantic mail steamers is shown in the official report on mail services between Great Britain and the United States for the year ending June 30, 1905.

The North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., Kronprinz Wilhelm and Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross made nine, ten and eleven trips, respectively, by which time the mails between New York and London averaged 149.5, 150.9 and 152.5 hours. The fastest time was 144.1 hours.

The Deutschland made eight mail deliveries, its average time being 150.4 hours. Its quickest delivery was 147.2 hours. The Cunard line steamers are a day longer. The Campania, which made the best time, averaged 167.4 hours. Its best time was 163.4 hours.

The White Star line steamer Oceanic tied the Cunard line's fastest time, but the other White Star steamers are far slower. The Philadelphia was the fastest of the American line, and averaged 177.6 hours.

Wealthiest Negro Farmer.

Cody Bryant enjoys the distinction of being the wealthiest negro farmer in Georgia. Bryant's estate, which he has accumulated without receiving outside aid within the last quarter of a century, is reputed to be worth between $50,000 and $100,000. He owns unencumbered nearly 2,000 acres of the finest farming land in middle Georgia, much of it being valued at $50 an acre. In addition to his extensive land holdings Bryant has large sums invested in various enterprises in his section. Bryant runs about 60 plows on his various farms in Jasper county.

The First Alcohol.

A scientist says that when people were cave-dwellers their diet consisted entirely of roots and fruits and that it is not unnatural to suppose that the food was often stored away. In course of time the fruit fermented, the sugar in it was turned into pure alcohol and the cave-dwellers drank it and got to like it. This was the beginning of the use of alcohol.

BILL IS ON ITS WAY TO THE PRESIDENT

Washington, June 16.—The statehood bill was signed by Speaker Cannon last evening, and it will be signed by the Vice President today.

Then Mr. McGuire will take it to the White House. It is not probable that the President will sign it today, for he is not apt to have the time to examine it, so that the last act needed to confer statehood upon Oklahoma and Indian Territory will not be conferred until next week.

Mr. McGuire will ask to be informed when the President gets ready to sign it, for he wishes to be present. The pen with which it is to be signed has already been bought. It will be delivered to the Oklahoma Historical Association.

A certain small boy in Ada is evidently destined to be president of the United States. He was sent out to sell a cow. In recommending her, he said: "She is guaranteed to give four gallons of milk a day, and sometimes she does."

AFTER THE BIG TRUST THAT FARMS THE FARMER

Washington, June 16.—Officials of the Department of Justice have struck a blow against the so-called Fertilizer Trust, a combination which in the amount of its capital is declared to be greater than the Standard Oil Company. Indictments have been returned against thirty-one corporations and twenty-five individuals and firms.

It is charged that the combination has mulcted Southern planters and farmers out of many millions of dollars in the last few years through its shrewd and secret methods.

The proceedings were brought in the United States Circuit

Court for the Middle District of Tennessee. The grand jury returned an indictment against the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. et al. This is a corporation with a capital of fifty million, existing under the laws of New Jersey. With it are allied a large number of other concerns. A list of the defendants includes Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. of Chicago.

At the C. P. Church.

Preaching Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

STATEHOOD WILL ABOLISH MANY LUCRATIVE OFFICES

Muskogee, I. T., June 16.—The greatest disturbance that will occur in official life in Indian Territory on account of the passage of the statehood bill will be in the federal courts. They will continue until a state government is established, and that will be nearly a year, but the federal court regime, as it has been known in Indian Territory since 1889 when the courts were established, will be wiped out forever. Indian Territory will comprise one federal district and there will be but one set of federal officers where there are now four, and some of these double maned.

There are more fat salaries in the federal courts in Indian Territory than most people suppose, and these will be wiped out. There are four federal districts. There are two judges in each district and they draw salaries of $5,000 per year each. In each district there is a United States marshal who draws $4,000 per year. He has an average of thirty office and field deputies, making 120 in all, and these deputies draw average salaries of $1,200 per year. For each district there is a clerk of the court who draws $4,000 per year. Each clerk has from four to six deputies and five each in recording towns, making possibly 40 in all, these deputies draw from $1,200 to $1,800 per year. There are four district attorneys who each draw $4,000 per year, and there are ten assistants who draw from $1,200 to $2,000 per year. There are 26 commissioners who draw salaries of $1,500 per year and each commissioner has a constable who draws $800 per year.

It will be seen from this list that there are right now more high salaried officers in Indian Territory than there will be in Oklahoma when it becomes a state. As soon as the statehood bill becomes a law, these officials will commence resigning. This is especially true of those who happen to be lawyers. They will have greater opportunities in the next few months than ever again to make money and they will not hesitate to drop their present office holding jobs which can last at best but a short time longer.

There is some question as to what will become of the present school officials. Of course as soon as a state system is formulated these will go out, but that may be a long time in the future. The advent of statehood will not in the least disturb the regime of the commission to the five civilized tribes, nor will it alter the work in the Indian agency. The Indian question and statehood are entirely separate. The commission will continue on until the Indian estate is administered, and the Indian agency will be continued as long as the Indians have any business of any character that is not finally closed, and this means a great many years.

WILL BEGIN TO PREPARE AT ONCE FOR CONVENTION

Guthrie, Okla., June 16.—Governor Frantz who with chief justice Burford and Chas. H. Filson, secretary of the territory, constitutes the board which will have charge of the district of Oklahoma for the constitutional convention, said today while no steps had as yet been taken, they will begin their work at once. "No plan for the work has been proposed as yet, even tentatively," said Governor Frantz, "and no estimate has been made upon how long it will take to finish the work, although we believe we can get the Oklahoma portion of the work completed more quickly than can be the case in Indian Territory, owing to the absolute lack of local organization there. No steps will be taken toward the calling of the constitutional convention until the districting is completed in both territories."

The general opinion here seems to be that the work on the Indian Territory side will take up practically all of the six months allowed for that work by the enabling act. This would postpone the time of the constitutional convention until next spring.

Shooting at Mill Creek.

Mill Creek, I. T., June 16.—Dal Gibson, a drayman of this place was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by City Marshal Bud Moore here last night. Moore was attempting to arrest Gibson at the time. The ball passed through his arm and entered the body under the armpit. His recovery at this time is considered doubtful. Gibson is said to have drawn a pistol.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

SLIPPER and OXFORD BARGAINS

This is the time of the year many people buy their Oxfords. They wait for our cut price sales, knowing that their money will go much farther than at any other time. It's alright. It's good figuring.

RIGHT NOW IS A SPLENDID TIME TO BUY

You see we don't want to carry over a single pair of slippers or oxfords until next year; we want the room and the money for fall and winter stock. That's the whole story. We do this every year at this season. Shoe up the entire family. Think of the saving. Commencing this very day we put the knife deep into the price of every oxford in our store. Sale will last but a short time, but while it's on, it's the time to buy slippers. Come and get first pick. Don't delay.

THE TASK THAT CONFRONTS US.

Ada's statehood celebration Thursday night was all right. The 18th Recording District was among the first to celebrate the glorious tidings from Washington.

The punctuality and enthusiasm of our people in this regard is indicative of more. The vim of that demonstration indicates the people of this district will be punctual and faithful in the discharge of the new duties of citizenship which statehood will bring. We now face a mighty work, that of building a state. First must be built the foundation, the constitution. That foundation must be laid deep and broad, and so strong as to defy all assaults from the powerful enemies of just government. The enemy will be at the constitutional convention. And, however vigilant the people may be, he will have henchmen among the delegates seated. But it behooves the people to see that this treacherous element in the convention shall be so small as to prove impotent.

Such is the immediate task; such is the work that faces us first. The organic law of the new commonwealth must be vigorous and up-to-date, must be searching, must be impregnable. The people in this part of the country, at least, may be depended upon to send as delegate neither a pliant weakling, nor an outright traitor, nor a fool; but they will elect a man of brains, a man of discretion, a man of integrity and of courage—in a word an able champion of the people's rights.

ADA WANTS A WATERWAY, TOO.

The News is in receipt of a circular invitation from the Business Men's League of St. Louis, which in part reads as follows:

"The Business Men's League of St. Louis has called a convention of the commercial bodies and river improvement organizations of the Mississippi Valley, to be held in St. Louis on Thursday and Friday, the 15th and 16th of November.

"It is intended, through this convention, to bring to notice of Congress the urgent necessity for large appropriations for the Mississippi river, for the western waterways generally, and especially for the proposed deep-water canal from Chicago to the Gulf, the building of which will carry with it the improvement of the whole of the river.

"Every commercial organization in the Mississippi Valley will be entitled to send one delegate to each fifty members, provided that each organization shall be entitled to at least ten delegates, and every town in the Mississippi Valley where there is no commercial organization will be entitled to ten delegates."

Enclosed with the communication is a neat button bearing the epigrammatic legend, "River Regulation is Rate Regulation."

Of course Ada will want to send a delegate to help in this great undertaking. And among the "western waterways" he might push the claims of our Sandy creek. Judging from the difficulty Ada has experienced in bridging this mighty stream, it ought easily to be made navigable. Be it understood Muskogee has not the only water way in the new state. When we get a congressman down here he must land for us some of that big river improvement appropriation. Every congressman does, though some of the favored streams might be spanned by a violin bridge. So, we want ours. Hurrah for Sandy.

SANDSTORM AT SEA.

EVENTFUL VOYAGE OF A SHIP FROM CALCUTTA.

Encounters Most Singular Conditions in the Red Sea—Decks Two Inches Deep with Powdery Grit.

New York.—The log of the German steamship Schoonfels, from Calcutta, which docked at South Brooklyn the other day, tells a story of storm experiences of a more varied character than is often encountered by China traders of modern times in a single voyage.

With the exception of the time the steamship was in the Suez canal it had only one day of good weather from the time it entered the Red sea, the succession of disturbances it encountered ranging from a sandstorm in the Red sea to a hurricane as it neared the coast and winding up with the strong westerly blow which compelled Capt. Denker to anchor off Liberty Island before he could safely dock on the exposed Brooklyn side of the bay.

The Schoonfels left Calcutta January 29, touched at Colombo February 5 for 24 hours, reached Suez the 18th and Algiers the 26th.

February 16, while in the Red sea, the ship ran into a sandstorm which lasted for two days, covering the decks several inches deep with a fine, powdery grit and keeping the officers and men who had to be on deck continually sneezing and coughing.

"We first noticed the sandstorm early on February 16," said Chief Officer Dietrich Kloppeburg. "Ahead of us the air was dense with a thick, yellowish mist, which at first we thought to be smoke-laden fog. When we ran into it every man on deck was set to coughing and sneezing. It was like running through a light smoke. You could discern objects in every direction for a considerable distance, but everything had a yellowish tinge."

"We had to keep all cabin ports closed and every time one passed in or out of a door a cloud of the fine, yellow sand sifted in and covered everything. There was little wind at the time and the sea was comparatively smooth, but the air was completely surcharged with the fine grit. Evidently there had been a severe sandstorm just before we reached that point and we ran into the aftermath."

"After leaving Port Said we had continuous rough weather, with one storm after another, which kept our decks awash and the ship laboring heavily all the way through the Mediterranean. A peculiarity about these storms was that one would be bitterly cold, with biting, freezing wind, and perhaps the next would be like a summer gale, high wind, but as not as though coming from a blast furnace."

"After leaving the Mediterranean we had about 36 hours good weather and then the Storm King got after us again. He came at us from the westward, the northwest and the southwest, one blow after another. The ship was rolling and laboring heavily in these successive storms, with high, dangerous seas continually breaking on board, until we were nearing this coast on March 14, when the wind died down for a few hours. But before midnight it broke out again from the eastward and by the 16th was blowing a gale. We made the Delaware breakwater in that gale and were safe in shelter during the worst of it, in which this coast was dotted with distressed and stranded vessels."

"The 34 Lascars in our crew of 63 had no clothing but their customary native garments of cotton and the first thing we on deck they sent a messenger ashore for heavy flannels before they would come on deck to clean up ship. "We are fortunate that, with all the terrible weather we came through, not a man was hurt and no damage was done on board which "Chips," the ship's carpenter, could not repair almost as soon as it occurred."

Suction of a Train.

The peril of standing too near to flying railroad trains was shown at Mamaronock, Westchester county, N. Y., on a recent afternoon, when Robert Coward, deputy county clerk, was caught in the suction of the Boston express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, dragged 40 feet and instantly killed. It is not an unusual thing for persons to test the sensation of standing near a train passing at a high rate of speed. The train in this case was going at the rate of 60 miles an hour and the displacement of air in such a case is terrific, causing a rush of it in the immediate vicinity which even strong men sometimes cannot resist.

Hot Water Ousts a Bear.

A big black bear, took possession of the cab of a Colorado & Southern locomotive near Como, Col., and fought fiercely rather than abandon its warm abode. It was finally routed out with hot water and a hose from another locomotive. A snowplow with five locomotives had been engaged in clearing the tracks of snow and during the night the string of engines was left on a sidetrack, with fires banked and only one watchman. The next morning the bear was found in one of the cabs. None of the party was armed and other means to dislodge him having failed the hose was used and brain took to the mountains.

LAST INDIAN'S HONOR.

Well-Known Red Man of Washington State Is Drawn for Jury Service.

Seattle, Wash.—To have the honor of being the first Indian in King county who was drawn for jury service is the proud distinction of James Moses, of Renton, who will serve at the April term, superior court.

Jim Moses, as he is known all over the Sound country, is the last of the famous peace loving Black River tribe of Indians. Moses was born in Eagle Harbor, whither his grandfather had gone with the Black River tribe during the Indian wars of 1857. He lived there a short time and then came back with his parents to Renton, where he now owns a five-acre tract at the mouth of the Black river. His residence is on the home place of E. M. Smithers, the old pioneer, who died only a short time ago. He lives there with his wife and three children, two of whom are in the public schools at Renton. In speaking of his being drawn on the jury list James Moses said:

"It is certainly a distinction to be drawn on the jury in this county and to have an active voice in the affairs of the country again. The fact that I am the first one of all the Indians in this county to be drawn makes me feel proud, not only for myself but for the honor of my race, which was always loyal to the peaceful conditions of the white men."

CARTOGRAPH THE LATEST.

Automobile Attachment Which Shows the Chauffeur the Road Before Him.

Vienna.—American automobilists will soon be crying for the cartograph, an almost human invention which is being shown here, if it comes up to the claims made for it.

Think of an attachment somewhat resembling the contrivance by which self-playing pianos are made by the unskilled to produce masterpieces! The cartograph, instead of being a perforated music roll, is a map of the roads to be traversed by the motor car unrolling in a panel in front of the chauffeur so that he can tell at a glance where he is and which turn to take. The speed of the machine governs the motion of the map, so that it always indicates—or should—the exact point where the traveler is.

Moreover, the cartograph is provided with perforations just ahead of where the short turns and corners are and these perforations ring a bell to warn the motorist in time. Even on the darkest night by means of this device it is as sure, and a wholly unknown route can be covered without danger of being lost or ditched.

The next logical step would be a contrivance to attach the cartograph to mechanical means of controlling the steering gear and levers so that the motorist can set it going and look for the machinery to do all the rest.

LAND FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

State Aid Plan for Groups of Men to Be Tried in Australia.

Washington.—Consul Goding, of Newcastle, reports an Australian plan to provide for the unemployed. It relates to Queensland province, and the scheme is thus summarized:

Suitable farming land is provided by the government for groups of men and their families that will ultimately form village settlements; but they are not to be cooperative, each settler will stand or fall on his own merits. Government overseers will guide and instruct the settlers for two years, and the house erected for their use can be used as a public hall or school.

Plain rations, implements, a small stock of cows, poultry, etc., roofing material, water tanks, etc., will be supplied for the first year. This will all be charged as a loan and must be eventually refunded to the state. The men will first be taken on six months' probation and may cultivate what crops they choose, and every encouragement will be given to enable the thrifty man to become the owner of his land.

No Paradise for Women.

So far as legal rights are concerned, Texas is not the married woman's paradise. A married woman has no property of her own. If she earns anything her husband can collect and spend it. He can squander her inheritance or gamble away her estate. Not long since, reports the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a woman whose drunken husband had deserted her bought a sewing machine on the installment plan and proceeded to make a living for herself and several small children. The husband discovered the fact and the terms of the bargain and, the day before the agent was to call for the second payment, went to the bank where the wife had deposited her little savings for this purpose, wrote a check and drew every dollar as her "manager."

Royal Oculist.

A committee has been appointed by the eye specialists of Paris to draw up a letter of congratulations to Duke Theodore of Bavaria, brother of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who has just performed his five thousandth successful operation. The duke enjoys a world-wide reputation as an oculist and has built a hospital at Tegernsee where he practices. Patients come from all parts of the world to be treated. The royal surgeon never accepts a fee from a poor patient, but taxes the rich according to their means.

PROTECT THE BIRDS.

CHILDREN IN DENVER HAVE AN AUDUBON SOCIETY.

Young Humanitarians Are Keen Detectives and Keep Close Watch Over the Dumb Creatures.

Denver.—There are three societies comprised of children in Denver, with over 1,000 members, who make it part of their lives to see that birds are not molested or shot. That is why there are fewer small boys in this city who rob birds' nests than in any other community in the world.

If a bluejay flies into the trees before your house, now that spring is on the flood, and if he insults you for hours with his raucous jeers and sneers, don't allow your temper to cause you to throw a stone at the boor. Beware! You will have a lot threatening you with the law of the state of Colorado. And you cannot avoid them, either. Their "Bands of Mercy" are all over Denver.

Mrs. Florence Robinson is the president of Columbine Band of Mercy; Harry Harris is the secretary (and a society with a secretary so young must be dangerous).

Miss Eliza Lentz, who has been noted for her humane work for years here, is organizing these bands of mercy over the state. The youngsters have a constitution, by-laws and wear buttons just like grown-ups. Then there is the Juvenile Audubon society. Above all, beware of these mites. You can never escape from their revenging clutches if they ever catch you breaking the bird law.

Mrs. Martha A. Shute, secretary of the State Horticultural society, is the organizer of the Juveniles, and they meet once a month in the basement of the capitol to tell each other of the good deeds they have done for animals.

Dr. Mary E. Bates, who is at the head of the Humane Education society, gives illustrated stereoscopic lectures every two weeks in the churches.

But back of the children is the State Bureau of Child and Animal Protection, with E. K. Whitehead as the secretary. Mr. Whitehead cares more for animals than he does for men, he'll tell you any day. And the law in Colorado is the strictest in the world in this line. The punishment for cruelty to animals, including birds, of course, is a fine of from $10 to $250, or a year in the county jail, or both.

The children of these Bands of Mercy and Juvenile Audubon societies are the detectives, and they gather evidence against brutal men who mistreat animals, which the Humane society uses in its prosecutions.

TO HATCH OSTRICH EGGS.

Incubators Shipped from Indianapolis to Farm in South Africa.

Indianapolis Ind.—An Indianapolis concern, the eastern branch of the Petaluma Incubator company, of Petaluma, Cal., of which W. A. Eshbach is manager, shipped the other day nine incubators to far-off Africa, three of which will be used to bring baby ostriches into the sunshine of the dark continent.

"It isn't the proper thing at all for the mother ostrich to 'set' nowadays and hatch her chicks," said Mr. Eshbach, "and so we provide her with an incubator. The incubator does the work just as well as the old-fashioned method, and leaves Mother Ostrich with plenty of time to attend to her household duties."

"The first ostrich incubators were used in South Pasadena, Cal., I think, not very long ago. Their worth has spread to Africa, and so we are sending some over there. The patterns which we are shipping to Algoa Bay, which is on the southeast coast of Africa, are 45-egg affairs—that is they will accommodate 45 ostrich eggs."

The order for the incubators came to the Indianapolis house through New York brokers, who carefully concealed the identity of their customers in Africa.

Town Being Buried.

Uncle Sam is deliberately burying one of his tiny towns at the world's highest dam, building on the Salt river, Arizona, which will submerge and completely obliterate the town of Roosevelt. The work is well under way, and by 1908 the town is expected to be 172 feet under water. It is thought that the head obtained will be the means of securing abundant power. A temporary power plant, a cement mill, ice plant, lighting plant and sawmill have been completed. A telephone line has been installed at the headworks of the power canal, 18 miles above Roosevelt, and extended in the other direction to the site of the Great dam, which is 30 miles from Phoenix.

Playmates Married at 60.

James A. Wikel, of Montpelier, Ind., and Mrs. Eliza Rogers, both past the 60-year milestone and former playmates, were married at Big Rapids a few days ago. Wikel desired a wife and engaged a matrimonial bureau in his quest. Correspondence brought him in touch with his former playmate, but he didn't know about her until he had procured the marriage license. He found her making butter, introduced himself, and marriage followed.

RAIN SAVES OWNER'S LIFE.

Butted In When Bull Was on the Point of Charging on Farmer.

Middleton, N. Y.—Timothy Freelove, always boasting that he was beholden to none, thanks his stars to-day because one of the humblest "butted in" at a crisis in his affairs. He has for 60 years been farming near Leonard Center and all Orange county knows him.

Once he was spry upon his feet, but when his belted Holstein bull which he was leading to water knocked him down he found it hard to regain his balance. The Holstein retired a few paces, scalped the turf, lowered his head and was ready to charge the helpless farmer. It was in the middle of a ten-acre lot and no human aid was nigh.

Just as the last snort had been given by the king of the meadow there was a swift flash of dull gray and curled horns. Something struck that bull right in the middle of the forehead, backed away, made a swift detour and came at him again from the rear. The Holstein ran like a creature possessed of many devils. He was pursued by what looked like a moving blur. Then his front legs nearly collapsed under him.

Freelove got to his feet as quickly as he could and gained the refuge of the road. There he saw a frightened bull bellowing and dodging about a yard in advance of Dan'l, a Dorset ram, which had gained entrance through a break in the fence and had gone to the rescue of his master. The bull finally sought refuge at the top of a large heap of stones, up which the ram could not charge. The Dorset was finally called away from the scene of hostilities.

"I always set a heap o' store by Dan'l," said Freelove, "and I hereby give it out that I pension the critter for life."

FIND BRITTLE CHILDREN.

Two in England Whose Bones Are So Fragile They Snap Under Slight Pressure.

London.—In a case at Blackpool in which a man was charged with neglecting to send his two children to school he stated that both children had suffered from broken thighs and every time they walked or ran their bones snapped. In the circumstances he dare not send them to a public school, as he was afraid the other children would be rough with them.

"Children whose bones are as fragile as porcelain, whose limbs almost break in a puff of wind or if they laugh excessively are rare," says an eminent physician. "Such a disease is confined almost to adults and though common on the continent is almost unknown in England. It is the most rare disease of childhood."

"The occurrence of the disease in certain localities has impressed some medical men with the idea that some unknown climatic conditions may cause the trouble, but the true cause remains for the present a mystery."

"Brittle children will always be with us and by this one does not limit the statement to the brittle-boned child. There are those whose constitution is so delicate that they acquire almost any disease with astounding rapidity."

"The primary cause of the susceptibility of the brittle child to disease is due to loss of nervous tone and to its loss of response to outside influence—the protective response which wires off messages to the organs or organs attacked and puts them in a defensive condition. This loss of nervous tone follows, of course, as a consequence of long-continued malnutrition."

WALKING BREAKS ANKLES.

Woman's First Step in Twenty-Seven Years Results in Painful Injury.

Seaford, Cal.—Believing that she could walk out into the back yard, Mrs. Ann Milligan, an invalid for 27 years, during which time she has never been able to sit up and take a step, attempted to get up and walk. She hobbled a few yards and fell. Her daughter-in-law, hearing her cries, hastened to the room to find her mother lying helpless on the floor. She got her back on the bed and it was found that both of her ankles were broken. This was the first time the woman had been out of bed since 1879.

When asked why she attempted to walk she exclaimed that for the first time in 27 years she felt as though she could walk out and enjoy the beautiful sunshine.

No More Bleached Blondes.

The chemical blonde has very nearly disappeared from the enlightened gaze of men. Once upon a time, says the Boston Herald, the yellow and strawberry beauty was taken at her own coloring, but now it is useless to practice any such deception. Sophistication rules the hour. No masculine, much less feminine, eye can be deceived. Her lustrous hair is woman's glory and to arrive at it she must cling to the color in which nature turned her out, be she blonde, brunette or nondescript. No beauty doctor or dyer's art can change the leopard's spots without hazard of betrayal.

News by Way of India.

A French newspaper of late date states that the people of Norway have sent several invitations to Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of President Roosevelt, to become their queen.

WARNS BAR PATRONS

SALOONKEEPER ISSUES CARD SHOWING EVILS OF DRINK.

Most Remarkable Method of Advertising on Record—Calls Drinkers Fools and Himself Honest.

Tombstone, Ariz.—Tombstone claims to have the frankest saloonkeeper in the United States. He keeps the Temple Bar saloon and advertises his business in a remarkable manner. He has had cards printed bearing the following words:

"Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My liquors will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed. They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases."

"They will deprive some of life, others of reason, many of character and all of peace. They will make fathers fends, wives widows, children orphans and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can. I will thus 'accommodate the public'—it may be at the loss of my never-dying soul. But I have a family to support, the business pays and the public encourages it."

"I have paid my license and the traffic is lawful, and if I don't sell it somebody will. I know the Bible says: 'Thou shalt not kill, no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven,' and I do not expect the drunkard maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species."

"I shall, therefore, carry on my business with energy and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensibility and ignorance I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth."

"Should you doubt my ability I refer you to the pawnshops, the poorhouse, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say."

"Allow me to inform you that you are fools and that I am an honest saloon keeper."

FIGHT HATS WITH HATS.

League Formed by Men in Paris to Put Down Women's High Headgear.

Paris.—Men of Paris who are habitual patrons of the theaters have decided to fight fire with fire in their crusade against obstructive headgear. They have formed a league which has for its object nightly attendance en masse at some theater, each member of the organization wearing a cockade on his tall silk hat and wearing the hat throughout the performance.

In order to make their object more effective the members of the league will purchase in advance solid rows of seats in front of the house. The managers of the various theaters have decided to raise no objection to the plan, but the women declare they will not abandon the big hat habit nor remove their hats, no matter what kind of "ungentlemanly" tactics are resorted to by the men.

One of their pet reasons for not removing their hats is that by so doing they are nowadays compelled to take off any quantity of artificial hair at the same time.

SEA GULL FOUND IN KANSAS

Huge Specimen Killed by Hunter a Long Distance from Native Element.

Topeka, Kan.—Frank Carpenter, one of Pittsburg's hunters, enjoys the distinction of bringing in the first sea gull that has ever been killed in this section of the country.

The bird measures five feet from tip to tip and is a large specimen of its kind. Gulls are not a common species of the bird world, but occasionally what is known as the dry water gull is seen in the country along the streams, but a genuine sea gull is an exceptionally rare bird.

This one is supposed to have been driven inland by the severe storms that have been blowing over the country for the last two or three weeks, and after getting into this section of the world, far away from salt water, became lost and was simply flying around from place to place in an effort to get its bearing.

When found by Mr. Carpenter it was being fought by crows, who were making all sorts of noise over their capture, and to get away from them it took to the water, where its tormentors left it.

Diaz as a Hunter.

The daily papers of Mexico are speaking with pride of the prowess of President Porfirio Diaz as a hunter. The chief executive will be 76 years old on September 15 next, and has just returned from a brief hunting trip in the western forests. Of three mountain cats laid low the president killed two, and 17 deer were captured.

TERRIBLE WINTER AT SEA.

New York.—Although last winter was remarkable for its mildness ashore, conditions on the seven seas have been exactly the reverse, the losses to the underwriters through disasters to ships aggregating several millions during the last four months. Speaking of the losses at sea, A. A. Raven, president of the board of New York Underwriters, said the other day:

"The Atlantic Mutual Insurance company, of which I am president, has had an unprecedented large number of losses this last winter, especially during the last two months. I think, however, the English companies have been hit harder than any others, and perhaps the Germans next. There are only a few distinctively American companies, but they've all suffered severely."

The figures of the underwriters indicate a loss of about $4,000,000 for the winter of 1905-06. The lumber carriers have been the heaviest losers, and next to them come the coal carriers. One of the veteran steamship men who discussed the stormy times at sea was Capt. Publicover, of the steamship Earl of Aberdeen, who lost his deckload while crossing the bay of Fundy in a gale the first of last month.

"The average landman," said Capt. Publicover, "has no idea what this winter has been at sea. It's not only the hardships which officers and crews have suffered, but look at the losses of cargo and the damage to hulls and rigging. Why, the whole coast, from the gulf of St. Lawrence to New York, is lined with floating lumber, spars, rigging and wreckage. If the forts, and jetties from Marblehead to Montauk alone could be gathered up and sold for junk it would make a man rich."

BANDIT WILL TOUR WORLD.

Terror of Hungarian Peasantry in Former Times to Go on Exhibition.

Buda-Pesth.—Josi Cavanyer, who 25 years ago was the terror and pride of Hungary, has arranged to tour the world under the management of a showman.

His deeds were celebrated in song and a whole romantic folklore was built up around this wild son of the mountains, who never hurt a woman or a poor man, but boldly attacked the castles of the rich and spent his booty in relief of distress.

He was finally caught and condemned to imprisonment for life. Once in prison he behaved with exemplary correctness, and during the 22 years he was in confinement earned the good will and even affection of all with whom he was brought in contact.

It was at the request of a bishop at last that the emperor gave him a free pardon and remitted the rest of his sentence on February 21. He changed his convict's dress for the same robber costume he put off so long ago and entered once again into the life of the world. But he found he could not live on his fame without showing himself and decided on a showman's tour.

GERMAN LINE IS FASTEST.

Average Better Time Than Competing Transatlantic Mail Steamers.

Berlin.—The superior speed of the German transatlantic mail steamers is shown in the official report on mail services between Great Britain and the United States for the year ending June 30, 1905.

The North German Lloyd steamers Kaiser Wilhelm II., Kronprinz Wilhelm and Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross made nine, ten and eleven trips, respectively, by which time the mails between New York and London averaged 149.5, 150.9 and 152.5 hours. The fastest time was 144.1 hours.

The Deutschland made eight mail deliveries, its average time being 150.4 hours. Its quickest delivery was 147.7 hours. The Cunard line steamers are a day longer. The Campania, which made the best time, averaged 167.4 hours. Its best time was 163.4 hours.

The White Star line steamer Oceanic tied the Cunard line's fastest time, but the other White Star steamers are far slower. The Philadelphia was the fastest of the American line, and averaged 177.6 hours.

Wealthiest Negro Farmer.

Cody Bryant enjoys the distinction of being the wealthiest negro farmer in Georgia. Bryant's estate, which he has accumulated without receiving outside aid within the last quarter of a century, is reputed to be worth between $50,000 and $100,000. He owns unencumbered nearly 2,000 acres of the finest farming land in middle Georgia, much of it being valued at $50 an acre. In addition to his extensive land holdings Bryant has large sums invested in various enterprises in his section. Bryant runs about 60 plows on his various farms in Jasper county.

The First Alcohol.

A scientist says that when people were cave-dwellers their diet consisted entirely of roots and fruits and that it is not unnatural to suppose that the food was often stored away. In course of time the fruit fermented, the sugar in it was turned into pure alcohol and the cave-dwellers drank it and got to like it. This was the beginning of the use of alcohol.
